LUNG CANCER 2024 New perspective

“West Larian Lung Cancer Meeting”

23 novembre 2024

Sede: Como

SCIENTIFIC RATIONALE

Neoplastic lung disease is a field of medical oncology that is constantly evolving, both from a biomolecular and a therapeutic point of view.

These innovations, however, risk not being implemented in clinical practice, generating an inevitable separation between the scientific world and realistically applicable therapeutic opportunities.

In this scenario, the concept of multidisciplinary related to the innovation that each medical specialty can offer, enriches and increases what can be offered to patients suffering from thoraco-pulmonary neoplastic diseases.

Event 2024 aims to give space for a wide discussion, starting with frontal reports with the objective of assessing how many of these innovations can be applied in daily clinical practice to improve the survival and quality of life of patients.
